To whom it may concern:

I met Shelly Costello more than twenty years ago and have known and worked with her in a number of relationships.

She was a member of a church which I pastored for a number of years. She served as our youth leader. Shelly always conducted herself as a very stable, conscientious, and innovative worker. Shelly got along with all those whom she worked with. She was enterprising in her ability to reach our community in setting fund-raisers, etc.

Shelly's attitude was always positive, her integrity, sincerity and morals were above reproach. She was enrolled in a Bible Training Institute of which I was President. She was faithful and consistent with her work and was an excellent student.

I have high regard for Shelly and recommend her completely.

Sincerely,
